

Mercury Systems Receives $5.9M in Orders for SWaP-Optimized Electronic Warfare Microelectronics

June 26, 2018

ANDOVER, Mass., June 26, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Mercury Systems, Inc. (NASDAQ:MRCY) (www.mrcy.com), announced it received $5.9 million in orders from a leading defense prime contractor for the development of small form factor electronic warfare modules for a defense application. The orders were booked in the Company's fiscal 2018 fourth quarter.

The Company offers a broad portfolio of electronic warfare solutions for ground, naval, and airborne platforms. Mercury's highly skilled engineering team has developed advanced design and simulation tools enabling rapid prototyping of new designs with a seamless transition to volume production. The Company's highly automated manufacturing facilities consistently deliver high-quality microelectronics innovations optimized for size, weight and power without sacrificing performance or affordability.

"These orders further reinforce Mercury's leadership as a pioneer in the development and commercialization of next-generation electronic warfare technologies critical to our national interests," said Kevin Beals, Vice President of Mercury's RF and Microwave group. "Our valued Prime customers can confidently select Mercury as a long-term partner for affordable, high-performance microelectronics solutions enabling our warfighters to maintain superiority around the globe."
