

Mercury Systems Receives $2.1M Order for BuiltSECURE Memory Devices

Nov 28, 2018 at 4:15 PM EST

ANDOVER, Mass., Nov. 28, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Mercury Systems, Inc. (NASDAQ: MRCY, www.mrcy.com) announced that it received a $2.1 million order from a leading global distributor of electronic components for SWaP-optimized memory devices featuring BuiltSECURE™ technology for a European defense application. The order was booked in the Company's fiscal 2019 first quarter and is expected to be shipped over the next several quarters.

BuiltSECURE memory devices leverage the Company's deep domain expertise in three-dimensional packaging technology. By transforming a two-dimensional array of memory devices into a single, vertically-integrated memory module, BuiltSECURE memory devices offer the ruggedization levels required to withstand the harshest military operating environments. All of the Company's digital microelectronics are designed and manufactured in the Company's Advanced Microelectronics Center (AMC) in Phoenix, Ariz.

"Mercury Systems is honored to support defense prime contractors and their entire ecosystem of supply chain partners with secure and trusted digital microelectronics from our Defense Microelectronics Activity (DMEA)-certified facility," said Iain Mackie, Vice President and General Manager of Mercury's Microelectronics Secure Solutions group. "Our highly skilled employees, combined with the advanced manufacturing capabilities housed in our AMC, enable Mercury to deliver the most advanced commercial memory technologies with assured long-term supply continuity for our nation's most critical military programs."
