

Mercury Systems Receives $3M Rugged Servers Order for Army Communications Edge Application

March 14, 2019

ANDOVER, Mass., March 14, 2019 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Mercury Systems, Inc. (NASDAQ: MRCY, www.mrcy.com) announced it received a $3 million order from a leading defense prime contractor for rugged servers to be used in an Army communications application. The order was booked in the Company's fiscal 2019 third quarter.

A leader in rackmount solutions for defense applications, Mercury's EnterpriseSeries™ servers have been deployed on over thirteen major Army programs in the last three years. Built for interoperability, longevity, availability, and performance, Mercury's platforms are employed in numerous Army applications including simulation and stimulation, radar signal processing, secure networking, battle command and control system processing, VICTORY enabled platform communications, and cyber operations.

"We are proud to support our customer and the U.S. Army with solutions that deliver trusted performance while operating on the move," said Scott Orton, Vice President and General Manager of Mercury's Trusted Mission Solutions group. "With a multitude of ground deployments, Mercury continues to develop server solutions that are specifically designed to meet computing, reliability, environmental, and security requirements found on the tactical edge."
